Part of the family!

Thank you for joining our celebration and being part of the Absolute Vision Care family!

We have enjoyed 22 years of serving patients in Crestwood and Mokena.

How have we helped you?

Dear AVC,

Our daughter, Megan, was never really interested in reading and we were debating whether or not to hold her back in school. We made an appointment with you and you diagnosed a problem with her focusing ability.

We ordered glasses and when she received them a whole new world opened up for her! There was such a change in her attitude towards reading and school!

She feels "special" with her wonderful new glasses!

Zorina K.

Dear AVC,

Words cannot express my appreciation for the professional service that I received from your office and staff. I am currently a supervisor of customer service and it is a delight to see an office/business who really, truly appreciates their patients; all too often in today's world this is not the case.

As you know, I have been incredibly happy with the results of my LASIK surgery. The time you spent with me in preparation for the surgery left me totally confident about the procedure and results.

Thanks again for such a wonderful experience!

Diane S.

Getting to know Dr. Liz and Dr. Jim

Dr. Liz Saxton-Williams

Dr. Liz Saxton-Williams was raised in Freeport, Illinois. She received her bachelors degree in biology from Iowa State University and her doctorate from the Illinois College of Optometry in Chicago.

During her externship rotations she was fortunate to work at two great clinics where she studied ocular disease and advanced care at the Norfolk Veterans Hospital in Virginia, and ophthalmology in West Des Moines, Iowa.

She also gave case presentations on ocular disease to other doctors in the area for continuing education.

Her rotations at the Illinois College of Optometry helped her gain experience and knowledge for binocular vision disorders, pediatrics, low vision, and specialty contact lens fitting.

In 2006, Dr. Saxton-Williams was excited to join Absolute Vision Care. She currently specializes in pediatric and binocular vision disorders along with treatment of emergency and advanced ocular disease.

Dr. Saxton-Williams still lives in the south Loop of Chicago because of her love for big cities. On weekends she enjoys going to the theater, enjoying art, and occasionally going to Bears football games!

Dr. Saxton-Williams has learned through her experiences the most important thing is that "anyone can be an optometrist, but to be a successful one requires compassion, personality, and a love for the profession."

Dr. James B. Sowinski

Dr. Sowinski was born and raised in Tinley Park, Illinois. He completed his undergraduate studies at Valparaiso University in Indiana and graduated from Illinois College of Optometry in 2001.

He went on to complete a one year residency at Newington VA Medical Center in Connecticut where he performed eye exams with heavy emphasis on ocular disease.

He has been in private optometric and ophthalmologic practices in California. He specialized in ocular disease, co-managing ophthalmologic surgical cases, and fitting contact lenses.

Dr. Sowinski has given several public presentations, including a medical review he presented at the New England College of Optometry. He is the recipient of the 2001 Lighthouse Macular Degeneration Award and VSP Award of Excellence in 2005.

Dr. Sowinski's areas of specialty include medical diagnosis and treatment of the eyes, treating traumas and emergencies, and contact lens fittings.

Dr. Sowinski is excited to be back in the Chicagoland area. He enjoys backpacking, hiking, sports, and spending time with family and friends.
